

KPMG's Christmas Gift to Injured Workers:

A report that...

- ✂ recommends transferring many costs of work injuries from employers onto taxpayers;
- ✂ attacks older workers by suggesting that the WSIB eliminate or limit compensation for workplace injuries where workers have pre-existing conditions, aggravations and/or recurrences;
- ✂ recommends eliminating the 72-month lock in, which will leave workers on probation for life;
- ✂ uses disingenuous reasoning, concluding that return to work and recovery are being improved because workers' benefits are being slashed; and
- ✂ follows the line of medical lobbyists for the insurance industry that time off work to heal is harmful.

Come and tell KPMG what you think of their Christmas gift!
